2013 AUSTRALIAN HOME OF THE YEAR

FINALISTS

CLASSIC CONSTRUCTIONS, MELINDA BOAG DESIGN AND
PAUL TILSE ARCHITECT
ACT & Southern New South Wales

This marvelous Australian Home of the Year finalist is an inspiring modern home. It makes a visual statement externally in terms of street appeal, and internally by providing easy, relaxed modern living. The home features seamlessly integrated internal living areas with external entertaining areas, garden and swimming pool.

CANNY
Victoria

A fine example of modern architecture, this home offers a large family home on a small block, with its elegantly proportioned design and flexible floor plan making room for everyone. The home features superbly integrated living zones, spacious bedrooms and an under-floor cellar in the family room. This home is an outstanding Australian Home of the Year finalist.

STYLISH CONCEPTS
Queensland

This Australian Home of the Year finalist makes great use of passive solar principles with perfect orientation and cross-flow ventilation. The design is sensitive to the block's natural advantages and challenges. The judges noted that the builder displayed an outstanding ability to combine comfortable outcomes for the owner, with great aesthetics.

FINALISTS

PHASE DEVELOPMENTS Queensland

A worthy Australian Home of the Year finalist, this renovation boasts flawless attention to detail in the contemporary extension. The impressive integration of indoor and outdoor living areas maximise the benefits of solar passive design. The fully automated home is described by the judges as 'perfect to the millimetre'.

LIME ST PROJECTS Western Australia

This townhouse / villa development was a stand-out for the judges for its strong street presence, high quality finishes and fine attention to detail. The project sits perfectly within its surroundings with subtle flashes of Georgian face-brick and white rendered walls. The development is a worthy finalist for Australian Home of the Year

PIMAS GALE CONSTRUCTION PTY LTD New South Wales

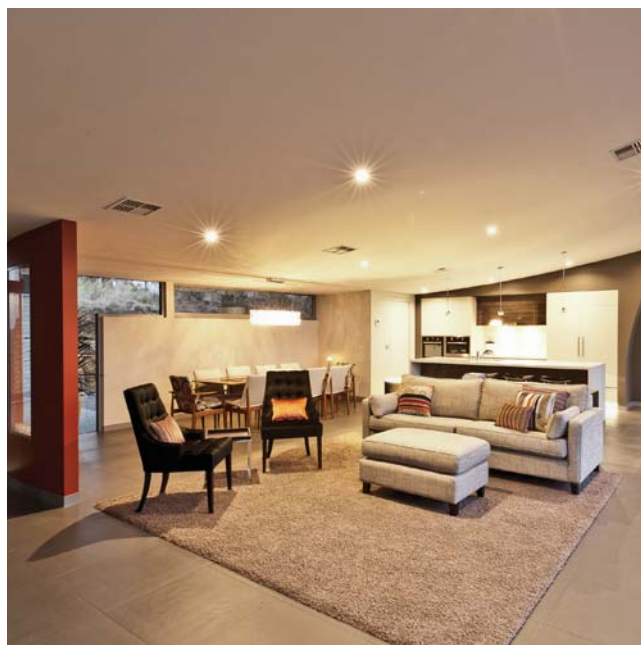

This apartment complex is an outstanding example of superb workmanship, melding new with old precisely. The eight units in the complex were individually architecturally designed for the renovation works. Congratulations to the apartment complex in being named an Australian Home of the Year finalist.
